

Adjustable Block Program Launches Transition Hub and Announces Community Driven Community Solar Application Deadline

May 26, 2022

Transition Updates

- ABP Program Administrator Transition Hub Now Live

The Adjustable Block Program has launched a transition webpage where program participants can find important information and forms during the transition period to a new Program Administrator. For updates and announcements related to the transition, please visit the ABP Program Administrator Transition Hub.

As part of the transition, please keep in mind that the IPA is placing a temporary application pause on all ABP applications. The important dates for the related application pause are included below.

	Disclosure Forms Available	Part I Application Available	Part II Application Available	Disclosure Form API Available
July 1, 2022	Yes	No	No	No
September 1, 2022	Yes	Yes	No	Yes
November 1, 2022	Yes	Yes	Yes	Yes

For any transition-related questions and inquiries, please contact the IPA at IPA.ContactUs@illinois.gov. For application or Program specific questions and inquiries, please contact admin@illinoisabp.com.

General Program Updates

- Community-Driven Community Solar Applications Due June 13, 2022

Applications for Community-Driven Community Solar projects, a new project category outlined in Public Act 102-0662 are due on June 13, 2022. More information on the requirements for these projects can be found in Section 1.F of the Program Guidebook.

- Equity Eligible Contractor Hub on ABP website now live

A webpage dedicated to providing more information on Equity Eligible Contractors (EECs), a new distinction outlined in Public Act 102-0662 is now available. Please visit the ABP Equity Eligibility Contractor Hub for more information on EECs.